

Dr. Ernesto López-Gómez holds a Diploma in Teaching and a Degree in Pedagogy with Honors from the Universidad Complutense de Madrid (Spain) and a Doctorate in Education (with Extraordinary Mention) from the Universidad Nacional de Educación a Distancia (UNED, Spain).

He is currently an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Education at UNED, where he also serves as Head of the Department of Teaching, School Organization, and Special Didactics. Additionally, He also collaborates as the Coordinator of the University Master's Degree in "Strategies and Technologies for the Teaching Function in the Multicultural Society."

Dr. López-Gómez has taken on the role of Co-Principal Investigator for the Consolidated Research Group at UNED, ForInterMed (Ref. 125). He is an associate editor of Educacion XX1 (indexed in JCR, Q1) and a member of the Editorial Board of Revista Española de Pedagogía (REP, indexed in JCR, Q3). Moreover, he currently serves as the Secretary General of the Spanish Society of Pedagogy (SEP).

His research primarily focuses on teacher education, higher education, and pedagogical leadership. More information on his specific research lines and academic publications:

<https://www.uned.es/universidad/docentes/educacion/ernesto-lopez-gomez.html>

<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=AuC-2j0AAAAJ>